

Legal Father's Worksheet

Use this worksheet to gather the information you need to complete the Do-It-Yourself Revoke Paternity Established by Marriage. The more information you have when you begin, the faster you can finish and get your forms.

Information about Court Cases

Is there a child support order requiring you to pay child support for this child? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed
- The date the judge signed the order

Is there a pending (ongoing) or finished divorce, separate maintenance, or family support case between you and the child's mother? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed
- The judge's name
- Whether you are the Plaintiff or Defendant
- If the child's mother has a lawyer in that case, the lawyer's address and phone number

If there has not been a divorce, separate maintenance, or family support case, has there ever been any other case involving child support, parenting time, or custody of the child in a Michigan court? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed
- The judge's name
- Whether you are the Plaintiff or Defendant
- If the child's mother has a lawyer in that case, the lawyer's address and phone number

Other Cases

If you do not have any of the cases listed above, you will need the following information:

Are there any other pending or resolved cases in family court involving you and the child's mother? If so, you will need to know:

- If the case is still active
- The case number
- The court where the case was filed
- The judge's name

Has there ever been an abuse or neglect case (child protective case) involving the child? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed

Has there ever been a juvenile delinquency case involving the child? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed

Is there any other Michigan court with continuing jurisdiction over the child? If so, you will need to know:

- The case number
- The court where the case was filed
